MUCH TIME WASTED ON SOCIAL GAMES

REV. E. H. PENCE ON FRIVOLITIES OF LIFE.

They Do Harm Because of the Attitude They Force Us to Assume Toward More Serious Affairs—Foot Ball Draws Energy From Studies.

At the Presbyterian church yesterday morning Rev. Mr. Pence preached from Psalm 119:13. "I hate vain thoughts, but thy law I love." Mr. Pence began by saying that it was a high tribute to a man, to say of him that he had been an honest man, that he had lived and died honestly. He mentioned as an example Henry George. People are sometimes dishonest because to be honest means that they must be consistent, and not think one thing and live another. People are oftentimes willingly ignorant of the problems of life. It is entirely possible for a man to do some very vain thinking about what are very serious things, and on the other hand, to be entirely serious in our relation to what seems to be very light things. We think vainly because we are satisfied with a vague, doubtful, non-committal conception of truth, thinking we are thus released from responsibility to the infinite being who stands back of these truths. This is thinking that is totally unworthy of a human being. We may become habitually vain in our thinking. Your thinking molds, commands, dominates your acting, your doing, your attitude toward your fellow men and your God.

There are a great many amusements which have been brought under the ban, simply because some people who indulge them cannot possibly turn away from them to the serious things with a serious mind. The harm with-in depends on the attitude with which we come to them, and the attitude with which we return to the serious things of life. Suppose the magnificent energy that is wasted nowadays in some college games of football, not in itself harmful, should be turned to some widow's half-cord of wood, or to learning next day's lessons, imagine the good that might result. There are amusements that require time that should be given to sleep, and leave us entirely unfitted for the next day's duties. These things have a serious effect on moral characters. How far can you indulge in the so-called frivolous thing, and then return to the serious things with the right attitude, to the question of character building? Some have the materials to build a magnificent edifice, but only manage to make a poor hovel for all eternity, because of this vain thinking and living.

Also, selfish indulgence causes us to lose our power for good over other people, and our words are void and empty, because our life and example speak otherwise.

Again, it makes us lose our power over ourselves, to command our inclinations for high and holy pursuits. Our noble ideals and lofty purposes in life grow to have less power over us. When we come back with less and less willingness to the contemplation of the serious things in life, then it is time we put a stop to these things. Christ said it was better to go into heaven with the loss of some of our members and be saved than to live a life full of this world's pleasure and be lost forever and ever.

PHYSICAL DEATH NOT FEARED

Dr. Anderson Points Out the Extent of Christ's Sufferings.

At the Baptist church Sunday morning Dr. Anderson's text was in Heb. 5:7. He said:

Jesus Christ suffered all the way from the manger to the cross. In Gethsemane and on the cross was the culmination of his suffering. This text refers to that time.

Was it mere physical suffering, from which he shrank? No, it was not that. After knowing for three years, that he must die, he would have met it without a murmur. He faced his enemies and told them what they were and who he was. He met them calmly and without fear. See him at the mock trial and as he is placed upon the cross. There is no fear of physical pain. He forgets his own pain and prays for the Roman soldiers.

What was it then that he feared? The text says death, not simply physical death, but a spiritual death and that means a separation from God. Our first parents died in the garden of Eden. They hid themselves from God. The sweet fellowship existed no longer. Man is separated from God and is thus spiritually dead.

Again the Scriptures declare that Christ died for us. "He bore our sins in his own body on the tree." He took our place. He was not punished for his own sin, but he suffered the penalty that, otherwise, would be ours. Was he, the innocent, separated from the Father. No, but he endured all the agony that a lost soul separated from God, would endure.

Why did not the Father answer that prayer? He did, because he gave just what was for the best. He did not relieve him of the suffering, but he sent an angel to sustain him and help him endure all that was required of him. Notice that physical death is not the greatest calamity that may befall us, but spiritual death is, and Christ has borne that for us, if we will but accept it. Jesus has paid our debt of sin, will we believe it. God grant that we may.

Dr. Anderson preached a missionary sermon in the evening. Miss Elizabeth Palmer sang a beautiful solo at the morning service.

BRAIDED CLOTH GOWN FROM HARPER'S BAZAR

In many of the gowns this season the waist is so short as almost to give the effect of a belted princess gown, and this, says Harper's Bazar, even with cloth costumes which have usually been made with somewhat of a coat effect. While the style is one that is peculiarly becoming to a tall woman, it can easily be so arranged as to look well on a short figure, as the lines are long and slender, and the belt can be adjusted to make the waist line long if so desired. The gown illustrated above is in one of the new shades of brown, made to fit closely over the hips and with all fulness thrown back; the skirt is cut to flare out around the bottom; the braiding, in which three kinds of braid are used—black with a touch of white, gold, and a flat black braid that runs from belt to hem, giving the effect of the skirt opening at one side. The waist fastens at the left side, and the braiding is put on to give the effect of a pointed yoke. Directions for cutting the skirt, waist, and sleeves are given with the tissue paper patterns of the gown sold by Harper's Bazar. Ruffles at the wrist and a belt of gold colored taffeta carry out the gold of the braiding.

The hat has a stiff brim, but the soft crown of shirred brown velvet takes away any hard lines. Around the crown is a roll of dark brown velvet; a long black ostrich plume adds height, while the touch of color in the cerise rosette under the brim at the left side makes the hat much more becoming.

Miss Beulah Hogdon led the Y. P. S. C. E. The subject was "Influence, why to get it, how to get it, how to use it."

"THE GOD WHO ANSWERS BY FIRE."

Rev. W. A. Hall Discusses the Need for Miracles in Religious Life.

The audience at Court M. E. church listened to a sermon yesterday morning from the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hall, on "The God We Serve." The speaker said that Matthew Arnold with all his power of eloquence and magnetism, represents a class of thinkers who bury the bible and discard the divinity of Christ. Matthew Arnold is the month-piece of the great world of unbelief; people who rob God by attributing to natural causes all the wonderful phenomena of the supernatural; people who fail to recognize in the dew drop and the rain, the sunbeam and the cloud, the chemical conditions of the soil, the all-wise, far seeing provisions of an all-wise Creator; people who rob the grave of immortality.

The speaker believed that what the world needed today more than any thing else was a revelation from God, so clear that mankind would believe that God never sets a human soul adrift without a compass, a rudder, and a pilot.

The miracles of the bible are the great stumbling block of the atheistic world. To their mind all phenomena can be explained by natural causes. The speaker believed not only in the miracles of the bible, but he believed that the age of miracles was not past. The conversion of a soul by supernatural power was a miracle that no man attempts to explain. The prophet Elijah as he calls down fire upon the altar of Baal, after deriding with cutting irony the efforts of the heathen prophets, was the exponent of divine power in an age of the world when the darkness of ignorance and superstition was controlled by witchcraft and jugglery. In that age of many gods, it was necessary that the true God, the God of Elijah should answer by fire in a supernatural way.

Mr. Hall's sermon was a powerful one and was heard by a large congregation.

In the evening the "Pacific Parables" were continued and commanded close attention.

NOT FORM BUT SUBSTANCE.

Rev. R. C. Denison Preaches On the Emptiness of Religious Pretense.

There was communion service at the Congregational church yesterday morning. Fifteen were received into membership. The pastor spoke on the Glory of the Cross, from the text, "God forbid that I shall glory save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ." Paul wrote these words to the Galatian churches among whom there were certain teachers who were trying to increase the number of Jews. They were not so anxious to make better men as to make members of their own church. Paul felt that the merely outward form by which a man changes from the outside world into the church might be passed through without making any deep change in the man himself. So he said that the thing he gloried in was this deeper thing which alone made the form valuable. Namely, the cross which crucified a man to the world and the world to him. By being crucified to the world the speaker did not mean that he took no further interest in his work or his friends. It did not mean that he was insensible to the beauty of mountain, stars or sea. It did not mean that he cared nothing for the Roman empire, through which he had been preaching, for he said he felt himself a debtor to every man to help if he could. What he did mean, was that the world of sin, luxury, pride, greed and struggle for personal power and honor was all a dead matter to him; he did not care for it. But the world of duty, of truth, of God was all alive and full of interest to him. And the cross had done it. There are two suggestions which come to us as to how the cross helps to crucify a man to the valueless things in the world. One is that the cross shows that the best way to deal with an evil habit or thought is to oppose it to the end. Christ would not delay, plead or compromise but resisted the malice and pride of the world to the death. Sometimes we weep over our sins, sometime promise that tomorrow we will do better but the devil in us laughs at these. The only way is the way of the cross which sets out on a relentless warfare against the evil, beginning today, and will not yield an inch until the sin has unconditionally surrendered. One other thing the cross does is to bring a fresh strength to us, the force of God himself. The cross declares that He is not distant nor indifferent but its simple lesson is that when tomorrow we try to do a true thing and turn to God for help that out of the heavens comes an almighty hand and takes hold of our hand and the great voice says, "my child we go together."

In the evening the pastor spoke on the ability to receive the things which God and nature and fellowmen have to offer to us the quality of mind which realizes that we have not already all that we need but that we may learn from God and receive from God if we are willing to take.

HAMMAS WAS GLAD TO GO TO PRISON

JAIL LIFE HAD BEGUN TO FALL ON HIM.

Preferred Waupun For a Month to the Rock County Jail For a Day—Sheriff Acheson Took Him Up at Noon—Wife Promised an Early Visit.

When Henry Hammass left the Rock county jail this noon on his way to Waupun he gave one long sigh of relief.

"I would rather spend a month in Waupun" said Hammass, "than one day in the Rock county jail."

Hammass should have known what he was talking about for he has spent considerable time in both institutions.

Mrs. Hammass, with tears streaming down her face bid her husband farewell at the jail and promised to make an early visit to Waupun. The prisoner was taken to Waupun by Sheriff Acheson.

MOVE FROM JAIL TO JAIL

William Hopgood and John Miller Kept Busy By Impertinent Sheriffs.

William Hopgood and John Miller, two bad characters, spent Sunday night in the Rock county jail. They arrived from Rockford at 1:05 o'clock Sunday in charge of Sheriff J. Labuwi of Dodge county. This morning they were taken to Juneau and lodged in jail charged with robbing a clothing store in that city several months ago. When arrested both men had stolen clothing on them.

Hopgood and Miller are both known to the local police. They took part in the shooting fracas near Beloit in the early summer, and ever since have been locked in the Rockford jail. Sufficient evidence was not on hand and they were acquitted only to be arrested on another charge.

HEAT-STROKE IN NOVEMBER

Brakeman Cary Overcome In the Chicago & Northwestern Yards.

Comparatively few cases of prostration by heat are reported to local doctors in November. This is an unusual year, however, the sun shines much brighter since McKinley was inaugurated, and the climate is changing. It was so warm in the C. & N. W. yards a day or two ago that Brakeman John Carey was overcome by the heat and dropped. Engineer "Farmer" John came to his relief with a pail of water.

Big Business Done on the C. & N. W. Shops Run Sunday.

Business on the Chicago & Northwestern road is rushing and the Janesville machine shops were kept running at full force all day Sunday on emergency work. All day Saturday freight trains arrived in town from the north and south and by night it began to look like a blockade. Potatoes, live stock, grain, coal, and lumber filled the tracks. Some trains were held at Milton Junction four hours on account of lack of room in the yards.

Evansville Marshal Let a $2,000 Policy Lapse Only a Short Time Ago

Charles C. Brink, who committed suicide at Evansville on Oct. 30, did not carry a heavy life insurance as many supposed. He left but one policy and that of $1,000.

Several months ago he let a $2,000 policy drop, thinking he was not able to bear the expense on account of his illness.

A SIMPLE HARMLESS REMEDY

Yet It Cures the Worst Cases of Dyspepsia and Indigestion.

Dr. Jennison, who has made a life study of stomach troubles, says: All forms of indigestion really amount to the same thing, that is, failure to completely digest the food eaten; no matter whether the trouble is acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, belching of wind, nervous dyspepsia or loss of flesh and appetite; a person will not have any of them if the stomach can be induced by any natural, harmless way to thoroughly digest what is eaten, and this can be done by a simple remedy which I have tested in hundreds of aggravated cases with complete success. The remedy is a combination of fruit and vegetable essences, pure aseptic pepsin and golden seal put up in the form of pleasant tasting tablets and sold by druggists under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. One or two of these tablets should be taken after meals and allowed to dissolve in the mouth and mingling with the food in the stomach digests it completely before it has time to ferment, decay and sour.

On actual experiment one grain of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest three thousand grains of meat, eggs and similar wholesome foods.

It is safe to say if this wholesome remedy was better known, by people generally, it would be a national blessing, as we are a nation of dyspeptics and nine-tenths of all diseases owe their origin to imperfect digestion and nutrition.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are not a secret patent medicine, but a fifty cent package will do more real good for a weak stomach than fifty dollars worth of patent medicines add a person has the satisfaction of knowing just what he is putting into his stomach, which he does not know when widely advertised patent medicines are used.

All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, full sized packages 50cts.

Greenland the Fatherland of the Mosquito

M. Francois Du Barri, an adventurous French hunter who has just returned from a shooting trip in Greenland, says that he believes he has made a singular discovery, namely that this land of ice and snow is the fatherland of the mosquito, so numerous there are these winged pests. They are more harassing than the home product of New Jersey, but not so much so as the nervous complaints that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters will promptly relieve. Through the instrumentality of digestion and assimilation improved by the Bitters, the nerves, less than other portions of the human mechanism, acquire vigor and steadiness. The medicine also cures and prevents rheumatism, indigestion, malaria, kidney complaint and constipation, and builds up depleted physical energy. It imparts zest for the food and promotes nightly slumber. It is beneficial to the old, the young and the middle-aged, persons of robust constitution and those in delicate health. Convalescence proceeds without tardiness when it is used.

The Gate to India.

Khyber pass is the great northwestern gateway to England's Asiatic province. It connects India with Afghanistan, that turbulent country which both Russia and England would like to hold, but which neither one dares to grab. The pass itself is a narrow defile through the heart of the mountains. It is about 30 miles long and of varying width, running between precipitous walls from 600 to 1,000 feet high. Through this defile runs a river, and along its banks is the only military road between western Asia and the Indian peninsula.

IT PAYS TO KEEP WATCH.

The experience of Wisconsin butter shippers in trying to get a foot hold in the London market shows the wisdom of Secretary Wilson's suggestion that every foreign embassy should be provided with an agriculturist who can make intelligent observations and reports specially relating to agricultural and horticultural conditions in those countries for the benefit of the American farmer in enabling him to know what he has to compete with abroad and at home. Other countries have their representatives of agriculture here watching every experiment and development among our agriculturists and fruit growers with a view to utilizing information gained for the benefit of their countries, but we are woefully behind them in this respect. The consequence is that this country annually imports millions of dollars' worth of products which our farmers could raise themselves if they had authentic information on the subject.

Mr. Hannis Taylor, ex-minister to Spain in making public his pro-Cuban views, was probably actuated more by a desire to embarrass President McKinley than by his desire to help Cuba.

How much the Civic Federation accomplished for New York municipal reform is seen by Mayor-elect Van Wyck's declaration that not one of his 55,000 appointments will go to any body but a democrat.

"The first six months of the McKinley administration were the most disastrous in the history of the country."—William Jennings Bryan. That's a good one, Mr. Bryan; give us another.

The total value of the agricultural products of Kansas for 1897, according to the report of the board of agriculture of that state, is $176,000,000, the largest in the present decade.

"There is no delay in pay days now; there is no scrip payment to men for labor, but cash, and that cash is as good as gold."—Senator Hanna, at Cincinnati, O., Oct. 29, 1897.

"The Chicago platform was the best platform that had been written in 25 years and is stronger today than it was a year ago."—W. J. Bryan, at Newark, O., Oct. 27, 1897.

A free-trade tariff: general depression and distress. A protective tariff: prosperity and plenty. This has been simply the history of the country since its first president.

If the announcements of the social triumphs of Mrs. Langtry and her kind were given less prominence in our newspapers, it would be better for the morals of the American public.

The Nashville show, which has just closed, about paid expenses, which was some hundreds of thousands better than the Atlanta show of last year did.

It is to be expected that democrats will deny that the Dingley law has anything to do with the return of prosperity to the country.

How about that Dingley law Chinese wall? It don't interfere apparently, with our export trade.

The freight traffic of the west keeps the rails bright. Railroad rails; not popocratic rails against prosperity.

ASKS FOR AN ORDER DISSOLVING FIRM

C. C. BENNETT RECEIVER FOR SHOE FIRM.

Difficulty Between Him and His Partner Brought Into Court and Judge Bennett Asked to Grant a Dissolution Order—Details Given in An Affidavit.

Steps toward a dissolution of the partnership between C. C. Bennett and D. J. Luby under the firm name of Bennett & Luby were taken Saturday night when C. C. Bennett applied for a receivership. Verified summons and complaint with the supporting affidavits were submitted to Judge Bennett and an order was issued appointing C. C. Bennett as receiver and giving twenty days in which to show cause why the firm should not be dissolved.

Sheriff Acheson served the papers this morning and the business was turned over to Mr. Bennett. He gives bonds for $5,000 for the faithful discharge of his duties, his sureties being Dr. Orrin G. Bennett, George Bennett and James Mount.

Mr. Bennett claims in the affidavit supporting his complaint that he and the defendant, (D. J. Luby) are co-partners, doing business as Bennett & Luby, being retail dealers of boots, shoes and rubber goods; that all the money affiant has invested in said firm; that from the inventories taken recently by affiant and facts which have come to his knowledge, concerning goods which have been sold by the defendant and not charged on the partnership books of account and money collected on accounts by defendant and not properly credited, affiant became convinced that the defendant appropriated to his own use, the property and moneys of the firm, in a sum exceeding $2,000 or $2,500 beyond the proportion thereof to which he was entitled; that affiant accused defendant of such misappropriation about the 20th day of October, A. D. 1897, and defendant paid affiant two hundred dollars in cash, delivered to him defendant's promissory note for $550, payable in ninety days and charged himself with $250 on the books of the firm, for affiant's portion of said misappropriation by defendant; that affiant then told defendant that the partnership relation could not continue any longer but defendant did not and will not consent to a dissolution thereof; that the summons and complaint have been prepared in which affiant is plaintiff and Daniel J. Luby defendant, in which complaint affiant asks for a dissolution of said co-partnership and an accounting, the appointment of a receiver and such other relief as to the court may seem equitable and just.

Affiant further says that said firm is owing a large amount of money for merchandise, and it is essential that the business should have his immediate attention and personal supervision; that if any person outside of the firm should be appointed a receiver, it will greatly and perhaps, irreparably injure the financial standing of affiant; that as he is in no manner to blame for the trouble the firm is now in, he believes it would be proper to appoint him receiver of all the co-partnership property, assets and effects of Bennett & Luby, or held by them, and he therefore prays that he may be appointed as such receiver.

SOCIETY ON THE KEEN JUMP

No Time For Idling If the Present Pace Keeps Up

Wednesday of this week there will be two weddings, a choral union meeting, two church suppers, the Remenyi concert, the Princes of the Orient party, a ladies' reception and two card parties.

From now on through the winter, society circles promise to be gay.

Tea parties and the like are in sight by the dozens.

Church suppers and entertainments are to be held in formidable numbers.

Attactions—and first class ones—are booked at the opera house throughout the winter.

NEEDS NEW FUN AND SONGS

Novelties, and Not a Boy, Are "Wanted" by the Blaney Company.

"A Boy Wanted" played to a larger audience than it deserved at the Myers Grand opera house Saturday night. The play is a combination of opera, vaudeville, and comedy drama. The singing and dancing was very fair, but the humor was of a crude sort. Little Miss Nellie O'Neil was applauded for her dancing. The applause for the singers would have been more enthusiastic had the songs been newer. "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" was sung and played in three acts—which is almost too often, even for a good thing.

WANT NO POLITICS FROM THE PULPIT

JANESVILLE CONFERENCE OF LUTHERAN PASTORS.

Members of the Rock River District Association Gather For a Three Days' Session and in Their Preliminary Talk Make Several Interesting Observations.

Ministers of the Rock river district German Lutheran church are in the city for their semi-annual conference. The conference is held at St. Paul's church beginning tonight. The first session will be held at 7 p. m. in the vestry or in the school.

Tomorrow the pastors will meet in the church at 8:30 a. m. and at 2:30 p. m. On Wednesday the sessions will be held at the same hour.

There will be services at 7:30 p. m. tomorrow also a celebration of the Lord's supper.

The object of the conference is to further the interest of the Lutheran church in this part of the state. The following ministers are present.

Rev. O. Hauser, Horicon.

Rev. E. Monhardt, Burnett Junction.

Rev. E. Baese, Mayville.

Rev. F. Haneser, Portage.

Rev. H. A. Brandt, Lebanon.

Rev. M. Mueller, Westfield.

Rev. A. Grothe, Russellville.

Rev. F. Hass, Quincy.

Rev. Phillip Wilhelm, Mayville.

Rev. H. Mueller, Hanover.

Rev. P. Plasse, Ashippin.

Rev. A. Plasse, Brown's Corner.

In addition to the presentation of papers on various subjects of a denominational nature, there will be general discussion at each session. These discussions are important features of the conference, and account in a great measure for the force and effectiveness with which the church acts in important crises. The demand that the church be kept free from political invasion is one of the topics uppermost at present. Although no formal resolutions on the subject are likely to be adopted at the Janesville conference, the pastors express themselves emphatically in conversation.

CHARLES AND MAGGIE O'NEIL DECIDE TO JOIN HANDS AGAIN

Eight weeks of separation offset six years of disagreement in the eyes of Charles F. O'Neil and Maggie H. O'Neil.

Married six years ago, they failed to agree and made up their minds that a separation was the only remedy.

They were divorced eight weeks ago on the ground of cruel and inhuman treatment.

Never did eight weeks seem as long. They made this known to one another by degrees and Saturday afternoon they took steps to undo what the divorce courts had accomplished.

It took the circuit court of the Twelfth judicial circuit of Wisconsin, a clerk, a deputy clerk, a stenographer, a deputy sheriff and two attorneys an hour and a half to divorce them, but Justice Richardson with one hand behind him united them in less than three minutes.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Neil have two little daughters and a desire for the happiness of the children was an important factor in bringing about their reconciliation.

WANT $500 FOR OAK LAWN

Hospital Directors Say They Would be Glad of City Aid

A special meeting of the board of directors of Oak Lawn hospital was held at the common council chamber Saturday evening. Those present were President W. T. Vankirk, Secretary Stanley B. Smith, Mrs. Mary Crosby, Mrs. J. L. Ford, Miss R. D. Tallman, Mrs. Marion P. Leavitt, J. M. Nelson, W. H. Blair and C. B. Conrad. Mayor Thoroughgood was also present.

The present condition and future prospects of the hospital were discussed in an informal manner. It was the opinion of President Vankirk that if the city would donate another five hundred dollars the hospital could get through the year in good shape.

He proposed to stand by the institution to the end and see that the interests of those who had left goodly sums for the hospital were protected. The statement was made that the main trouble with the hospital was that eighteen out of twenty of the local physicians were opposed to the hospital.

It was decided to hold a public meeting on the occasion of the annual meeting of the hospital next month and let all who desired have an opportunity to vote for the board of directors.

GOT MANY BLUE RIBBONS IN CHICAGO.

Horses and Ponies Did Not Fare So Well—Lilburn Stock Farm Got Seven Awards in Shetland Classes—The Stock Brought Home Today.

The Janesville exhibitors at the Chicago Horse show are home covered with glory and blue ribbons. The Lilburn poultry farm took one hundred and fifty first prizes and one hundred second prizes. Competing against the Rock county fowls were several carloads of blooded birds owned by Allen D. Oliver of Newark, Del. and J. F. Bean of Pennsylvania, two of the best known chicken fanciers in the country.

The Robert Lilburn ponies won two first prizes, two second prizes, two third prizes and one fourth prize. There was much dissatisfaction over the judging in the pony class. The Rock county exhibitors claim that the judges are biased.

All the Rock county horses got home from the horse show this morning over the C. & N. W. All were in good condition. Joe Holloran, Joe Murray and Glen Burdick came up with the Phillips & Hadden stock.

WINTER NOTES.

Smooth Cloth Costumes — Jackets and Capes — Trimmed Redingotes.

Thick woolen goods having a hairy surface will be much worn during the cold season. They will be mixed with cloth and with plain woolen fabrics with novel effect. These heavy wools can only be employed for plain and simple styles without fullness or drapery of any kind.

Smooth cloth composes many costumes, both in the tailor made fashion and in more elaborate styles. In blue, red and green it is a great favorite and is often trimmed with black cords, passementerie, buttons or braid. These are for less pretentious wear, but fur, velvet, satin and embroidery are used for decorating cloth gowns for formal wear.

Cloth jackets are often made very elegant by embroidery and are trimmed with astrakhan or sable, having revers of light silk or satin.

Capes are longer than they were during the summer and are frequently mounted in plaits on a highly decorated yoke. They have high, stiff, flaring collars, lined with light satin or with lace or feathers.

There is a marked tendency to adorn long coats of the redingote form with corselets, boleros, pelerines, yokes, etc. The sleeves are made rather wide.

Astrakhan and mongolie are dominant furs and are largely employed on light cloth costumes. Chinchilla and sable are likewise very fashionable, forming blouses, capes, pelerines, boas and trimmings. Ostich feather decorations are greatly employed and are very delicate and becoming, but perishable.

Today's sketch shows an out of door costume having a skirt of chestnut brown cloth, which forms large plaits all around and is mounted upon a yoke. Two narrow ruffles of brown silk are carried around the hips. The bodice of brown silk is entirely covered with horizontal tucks, as are also the close sleeves. The wrinkled belt is of black velvet and is fastened by a pearl buckle, and a black feather boa is worn. The hat of black velvet is trimmed with black plumes, and a large chon of yellow velvet is placed under the lifted brim.

USEFUL HINTS.

Washing Silk Materials — Paint Spots. Something About Chapped Faces.

Well lighted dining rooms are a necessity in all well organized households. It is a mistake to think that a half light is desirable for large parties, as a full, brilliant light is advantageous to both men and women in evening dress. A chandelier or other illuminating arrangement should be suspended over the table, in addition to which there should be candles upon the table itself. Lights may also be placed on the walls. If rose colored shades are employed for both candles and gas, the effect will be more becoming to the complexion.

Bran water is recommended for washing silk goods, ribbons and silk stockings. The bran water must be strained through linen before being used. The material—foulard, surah or china silk—which has been washed is squeezed in a towel and ironed while it is damp. Ribbon is pressed between two papers when it is half dry.

Spots of oil paint may be removed from wearing apparel by wetting the place with turpentine and rubbing it hard with a woolen rag.

Women whose skin chaps and burns easily should never venture out of doors without a veil.

The picture given in today's issue shows a costume of black crepe de chine. The skirt, which is gathered around the waist, is trimmed with applications of white lace and has an underskirt of black satin. The bodice is shirred and closes at the left side under a ruffle of white mousseline de soie. The sleeves are shirred to match the corsage, and the belt and collar are of white satin. The hat, of shirred black crepe de chine, is trimmed with red roses.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Mme. du Bos d'Elbheec.

The oldest member of the Societe des Gens de Lettres, says a Paris correspondent of the London News, is neither M. Eugene Veuillot, who is 69, nor M. Legouve, who is 90, but Mme. du Bos d'Elbheec, who is 99. She is very sorry to have lived so long. Her experience of a very great age is given in one word—solitude. She has outlived husband, son, grandchildren, friends and has, for a little quiet society, gone to live in a convent at Angers. Mme. du Bos d'Elbheec was a prolific authoress. A list of her books would fill a column of a large newspaper. Some of them were highly successful. "Le Pere Fargeau" still sells. It had an early sale of 36,000. She has to write every year to the secretary of the Societe des Gens de Lettres to inclose a certificate that she lives. Her handwriting remains firm and legible. She works still as an authoress, chiefly writing for peasants and country folks. She began to work for the printers at the age of 20—that is to say, 79 years ago. She led a regular life, was never poor, never very well off and had many kind friends. The last of her old friends, Admiral de Ribours, died two years ago. She was elected a member of the society 53 years ago.

The Woman Postmaster.

A prevailing public opinion is that the woman postmaster is honest. The fact that the postoffices to which women have chiefly been appointed have afforded small opportunity for stealing may have had something to do with this belief. It was therefore startling when Miss Eva Beem, assistant postmaster at Hutchinson, Kan., was indicted last January, charged with embezzling $1,800 of postoffice funds. Miss Beem has just been tried in the federal court at Wichita and acquitted. The Hutchinson people have believed her innocent all the while, and they turned out to give her an ovation on her return. Streets packed with carriages and people on foot greeted her as the train came in. Miss Beem and her sister, with two women friends, were put in a carriage, and a military band headed a great procession which escorted her to her home, the crowd cheering and rejoicing all the way. A Hutchinson special says, "The citizens here will demand her reinstatement in the government service." The woman postmaster is triumphant, and public opinion is justified.

J. M. Thirswand, of Groesbeck, Tex., says that when he has a spell of indigestion, and feels bad and sluggish, he takes two of De Witt's Little Early Risers at night, and he is all right the next morning. Many thousands of others do the same thing. Do you? C. D. Stevens.

He Got the Position.

Small boy dashed breathlessly into a merchant's office. "Is the gov'nor in?" "Yes; what do you want?" "Must see him myself; most particular." "But you can't; he's engaged." "Must see him himself; most particular." The boy's importunity got him in. "Well, boy, what do you want?" "Dyer want a office boy, sir?" "You impudent young rascal! No! We've got one." "No, you ain't, sir; he's just bin run over in Cheapside." Boy engaged.—Tit-Bits.

ELASTIC STARCH has been before the people of the United States for twenty-three years and is without doubt the greatest starch invention of the Nineteenth Century. Last year it sales reached the unprecedented number of twenty million packages. It is prepared upon scientific principles by men who have had years of practice and experience in fancy laundry making. It makes ironing easy, restores old summer dresses to their natural whiteness, and imparts to linen a beautiful and lasting finish. ## FASHION HINTS.

Footwear, Vests and Hosiery—Hints About a Red Nose.

Shoes with pointed toes and those with square toes are both worn. The latter are the more desirable for general walking use. Children wear heelless shoes with wide toes, which do not cramp the feet in any way.

Veils having large chenille dots are much used; also black veils with applications of white lace. With ceremonious costumes no veil at all is worn.

Black hosiery continues to be preferred above all other. An attempt was made to establish the fashion of having the stockings match the gown, but it has not succeeded, except in so far as regards full evening dress, when the shoes also correspond in color. Even for evening wear, black stockings are often chosen, decorated with embroidery of colored silks.

Some of the so called minor trials of life affect happiness more seriously than do greater ones. Perhaps one of the most annoying of small misfortunes—misfortunes which do not perceptibly influence health, character or financial condition—is the possession of a red nose. Even a man finds this unpleasant, and to a woman it is well nigh intolerable. Redness of the nose is often the result of imperfect circulation, faulty digestion or tight clothing, and when this is the case simple and abundant food, absence of stimulants, plenty of exercise and a costume which does not compress the body will suffice to correct it in a short time. Vegetables and salads should enter largely into the bill of fare, and food should be eaten slowly.

An illustration is given of a long wrap for a middle aged woman. It is of suede velvet and is close fitting at the back, having a capuchon forming coquilles. The front forms a large plait. The cape sleeves are of suede cloth and extend to the front of the skirt. They are trimmed across the upper part by transverse bands of bias velvet, covered with black passementerie. The valois collar of velvet is bordered with black ostrich plumage. JUDIC CHOLLET.

JACKETS AND WRAPS.

Great Variety In Outside Garments—Materials and Trimmings.

Velvet is to be much employed for outer garments this winter, being used for capes, jackets and long mantles. Heavy broche silks, matelasse and striped silks will also serve the same purpose. Fur is considered an appropriate trimming for velvet and silk, as well as embroidery, galloon and chenille. The latter is used as embroidery or it forms a net or web over light silk.

Capes are noticeably longer than they were last year, and are very much trimmed, at least those made of velvet or silk. Cloth capes are not so heavily ornamented. As an intermediate wrap between the cape and the close jacket many half long garments are seen this winter of velvet or silk. They are loose in part, but fitted to the figure at the back, and have large sleeves in the pelerine style. These mantles descend half way down the skirt, and are lavishly trimmed with ostrich feathers, fur, ribbon and embroidery. Some are gathered into an embroidered yoke. Others have a simulated bolero.

A certain number of velvet jackets are seen, but in the majority of cases cloth enjoys the preference. These cloth jackets are often made very rich and elegant with embroidery, fine braiding and similar trimmings. Russian and oriental embroideries in lively colors are largely employed on cloth, serving for revers, collars, pocket flaps, boleros and belts for boleros.

Little blouse jackets having a belt and a round or slashed basque are a feature of the season, and are trimmed with embroidery, passementerie, fur and galloon. They have a valois collar or are cut in tabs, the lining being of light or bright silk or satin.

A picture is given which shows a jacket wrap of black velvet. It is straight in front, but close fitting at the back. It is lavishly embroidered with jet and has jet embroidered epaulettes, bordered with gray astrakhan. The collar is also edged with astrakhan. The cape-like sleeves are large, and are lined, as is the entire garment, with old gold satin. The hat is of Russian green velvet, trimmed with black ostrich plumes. JUDIC CHOLLET.

What He Wanted.

"Is there anything in my house you would like to have?" asked the man, as he frowned over the back fence at his next-door neighbor.

"Yes," came from the other side of the fence; "I'd like to have you send the insides of that piano your daughter bangs on, out to my barn."—Yonkers Statesman.

Youthful Facetiousness.

"When you have a sore tooth you go to the dentist and he pulls it, don't he?"

"Yes, my son."

"Now that you've got a sore leg if you go to the doctor will he pull it?"

(With deep feeling) "Yes, my son."

—Brooklyn Life.

An Official's Wrath.

First Citizen—What's the alderman so mad about?

Second Citizen—A boodle scheme was pushed through while he was absent.

"I see. Mad because the taxpayers are going to be robbed."

"No. Mad because he missed a divvy."

—N. Y. Weekly.

Such Is Fame.

"Do you consider Meeker a self-made man?"

"No; I think he was made to order."

"Why so?"

"Well, judging from the way his wife orders him around he must have been made for that purpose."—Chicago News.

Of Course She Would Suffer.

"If you don't like to hear me talk," she demanded, "why didn't you marry a mute?"

"A woman who is physically unable to talk at all!" he exclaimed. "Why, I'm too tender-hearted. I can't endure the sight of suffering."—Chicago Post.

An Eye to Economy.

Mr. Trivet—Why did your wife get a wheel; she was so much opposed to bicycling last year?

Mr. Dicer—She found a bicycle belt on the street, and her economical instinct would not permit her to let it go to waste.—N. Y. Journal.

A Toilet Secret.

Minnie—Nellie is a regular genius. She puts her frizzes up in tin foil off champagne corks.

Madge—And why off champagne corks?

Minnie—Because it makes 'em tight.—Judge.

The Prosperity Of Our Store Is Remarkable.

The business lines we follow make the increase of sales a surety. It's natural they should; they are sound, common sense, and appeal in every way to Shoe buyers. It is no small matter—this getting and retaining public confidence, and this, the one most necessary point in any merchant's business—confidence in your word; confidence in your goods; confidence in your prices. All of these any successful business house has and all of these we have.

We take good care of our trade and never disappoint them in any manner. We are selling all classes of Shoes at a lower price, on a closer margin, than we ever have before in the history of our business. Of course we make a profit but we are obliged to sell double the amount each year to make up the same profit of former years. We are doing even more than this. We find the plan increases trade to very large proportions. Every line in the house has been squeezed to the lowest price yet. If you knew the exceeding small margin we make on many of them you would wonder at our rashness. But that's our business. Suffice it to say we are the lowest priced Shoe dealers in the city. This you can thoroughly believe.

It's a Pleasure

For us to show you through the Cloak stock, and it must be a source of satisfaction to you to know that there is such a strong line at your doors as we carry. People from out of town give us credit for showing much the best line in this section; and we doubt if Wisconsin can produce another cloak department with so great a display as ours. By great we do not mean floor space, but rather the number of new garments and the great variety of the styles. Controlling so many sample lines enables us at all times to show a large number of novelties so entirely at variance with ordinary lines that comparisons are out of the question. As regards price, it is so well known that we save you a third on every coat that the mention of it seems almost unnecessary.

That new line of plush and velour Capes offers some exceptional bargains. Russian Blouses are much in evidence, and they are a dressy garment—that is, the kind we handle are. Two new shipments added to the misses' line makes the display of young ladies' coats about as complete as it could be; these are also samples and priced accordingly—$2½ and up.

The Man With the Gladdest Smile!

IS THE MAN WHO BOUGHT A "GARLAND."

His smile commences when he buys the Garland; it broadens as the winter comes on and he finds he gets more heat with less coal than ever before; and his face breaks into a grin from ear when winter is over and he comes to a full realization of Garland values.

Happiest people are always the ones who use the

GARLAND.

That Garlands are the stoves most universally used throughout the land is evidenced by the enormous sales each year.

WE ARE ON THE WAR PATH!

We want your stove trade; must have it; in fact, are entitled to it. Whether it be for a second-hand or a new stove makes no difference to us. We have been successful in selling ninety-nine out of every hundred stove customers this season so far; no reason why we can't sell you. No lower prices named anywhere than ours; no greater stove sellers in this part of the state than us. Most everybody is familiar with the line of stoves we carry, but for fear you may not know of them all we will name them over. Garlands, from $7 to $70, 1000 styles and sizes, the largest makers of stoves in the world; Jewels, over two millions in use; Jewetts, three and one-half millions in use; Red Cross; Round Oak; Riverside Oak.

We would like to know if every woman would like to know how to save half the work in washing. If they will come to our store and examine the new BALL BEARING BICYCLE and the WESTERN WASHER we can easily explain why these machines lessen work. You can always believe our every day talks. Lowell always does as he advertises.
